relative to the death of the late Lewis

Ellsworth, Elbow. "Promised to be of no more trouble." The author has caused much trouble in this section

Lewis Elbow, who died on Jan. 30

after a brief illness with pneumonia.

Although a resident of Weymouth for many years, Mr. Elbow's work had brought him into close touch in Dorchester homes, where nearly all of his pupils reside.

He took great pride in his profession,

as an organist and pianist, and has been a successful teacher in this line for many years. He was formerly organist at the South Baptist church, South Boston, for four years, and at the Union church in Boston for five years, and for the last part of his life at the Pilgrim Congregational church, South Weymouth. His medical services were highly regarded and were very largely attended to by his Dorchester friends being present. The pastor was completely surrounded by floral presents.

The services were conducted by Rev. W. V.

Kinney of the Union church, assisted by Rev. M. S. Nash of the Universalist church.

"Two many babies spent the flat" is the latest slogan of the landlords of New York apartment houses.

"Kerosene" translated into English means oil of the morning calm; but just at present the name is rather misleading.

The averages of thirty Willobys compiled by the weather bureau show that the warmest month was that of ten years ago, while the average was 73 degrees. February of 1885 was the coldest with an average of 15 degrees.

A theory that is rapidly gaining ground is that electricity is indissolubly connected with the component parts of an atom of matter; or, that atoms are composed of electricity, or are disturbances of ether corresponding to minute electric charges.

An exchange says that in Madras, India, coffee planter recently became a father for the first time. The progeny was twins, and when the doctor announced the glad news, the father was so excited that he galloped to the nearest telegraph station and wired the following message to his wife's sister in Calcutta: "Twin-today-more tomorrow."

The Wall Street Journal considers that the financial outlook for the year is good, and that opposition to President Roosevelt has collapsed. It says, "The fear that has prevailed to a large extent among business men that the presidential election of this year would involve some blow to confidence and create a scare which would affect the money and stock markets, appears to be passing."

For the year ending October 31 last, there were in Massachusetts 187 savings banks and institutions for savings, with assets of $641,437,692.52 and 42 trust companies whose assets aggregated $217,572,655.52. The deposits show an increase for the year of $21,475,325.29. The total amount of deposits, $1,101,175,469.59, is made up of 1,723,015 open accounts, being an average of $535.11.

The first monument to trades unionism was recently erected in Melbourne, Australia. It is called the "Eight Hour Monument," as it is in commemoration of the eight-hour system, which had its commencement in Australia forty-eight years ago. The monument is a tall marble pillar surmounted by an oblong block supporting a globe and torch. The word "Prosperity" is written on the globe and three large figures eight are engraved on the block.

Because of the recent great conflagration at Pittsburg, the statistical statement of the life insurance business for the year 1903, compiled by the Spectator, an insurance publication, is specially interesting. The figures show a gross income for the year of $209,000,000, or a capitalization of something over $63,000,000. The total assets of the companies at the end of the year were $366,000,000, an increase of $25,000,000 during the twelve months. The surplus was $122,000,000, an increase of $11,000,000; and the dividends paid were slightly in excess of $7,000,000, were more than eleven per cent of the capital. From the above figures, it would seem that the country's insurance business as a whole, was in a sound and prosperous condition.

Taking a million as a basis of calculation, statistics show that at the end of seven years there will still survive 312,000 out of 1,000,000 persons; at the expiration of eighty years there will be 107,000 of the original population. When it comes to the number of existences, there is a terrible thinning of the ranks. Only 841 out of the thousand, or one in 115 will reach that age. At ninety-seven, half of these will have dropped out, leaving only 131 out of the original 1,000,000. According to these tables, one's chance of reaching the age of ninety-eight is about one in 50. Of the original 1,000,000, but 54 will live to see ninety-nine; only 23 out of 1,000,000 will reach the century mark; or in other words, out of a group of 43,500 people born at the same time, only one will live out the century span of existence.

Democrats Organize.
The Democratic Town Committee met last Saturday evening and organized for the year with the election of John F. Bearson, of Ward 4, as chairman, and Isaac McLean, of Ward 1, as secretary.

There is more interest in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and the last few years has been devoted to their cure. The most effective method of combating local diseases, and prescribed local remedies, and by far the best, is to have a constitutional treatment. Treatment has proved successful to a constitutional treatment. Carter, of Weymouth, and Dr. C. C. T. Yerkes, Ohio, is the only constitutional curer on the market. He has a special method of curing disease to a miraculous. It acts directly on the body, and cures disease without the cost of one hundred dollars for any case of ticks to cure, dead or living.

You should bake at home; you get purer and better food.

But look well to your baking powder! It is a most important ingredient in your baking, and one very apt to be adulterated. Be sure it is made of pure cream of tartar.

The best way to be absolutely certain is to buy Cleveland's, well known to be a pure, cream of tartar baking powder, and the strongest and most wholesome made.

CHIT-CHAT.

becoming prematurely old men? Never used what people say. Of course, if the failure was caused by a man's own neglect, I do not blame them for wanting to put out of the hole if possible, but when untoward circumstances are the cause, do not be afraid, but quit and rest and take a new start. The other day I was reading, easily, I will acknowledge, short briefs from the lives of some of our great merchants, and I was surprised to note the number that had failed, made settlements, and then started anew. Men who today are acknowledged merchant kings.

DANCING.
I was fortunate to be one of the musicians at the great Parlor Society ball at the Symphony Hall last week. It was a ball with the accent on waltz. I do not know when I have seen a greater display of jewelry, or a more lavish expense for music, just think of a band of twenty-five pieces and an orchestra of the same size, each alternating with the other. And the great hall was crowded. I have been to Symphony Hall before, but not to a waltz. I struck up his old waltz, put on more room for the other waltzes, for a few minutes, but when the waltz break was on, my feelings were not at all hurt. To tell the truth, I thought the beauty of the picture so presented, was ahead of a symphony concert crowd.

Horace R. Brattain watered a social entertainment and dance to the members of the Pine Tree Club at Brattain's hall, Brattain's Wednesday evening. It was an excellent program provided, consisting of mandolin solos, vocal solos, pianoforte and violin solos by an orchestra. After the guests had been introduced and refreshments served, there was dancing for an hour. The whole party was an eminent success. The orchestral music was under the direction of A. H. Hanley.

ELECTRIC TRAVEL.
The recent barn burns in the power stations of the electric railway company have caused some hundreds of unemployed. I am thinking more especially at this time of the young man who started from his home for North Weymouth at 7 P.M. He arrived at his destination Thursday, was one of the best ever made before, was a law unto himself, and the young lady must have gone to her, for the lights, so I am told, were all out. Perhaps she was watching the new moon go down with someone else. There is no telling what these girls will do.

CHILDREN'S DAY.
The Cochato Club people always devote one day in the year to the children. That day is Washington's birthday. There is a good crowd there to have the same opportunity to have other people to have the same opinion.

It is a good thing to have someone to tell your troubles to, but look out for the man who only listens to your tale of woe so that he can get an opportunity to tell his own.

Of course we should go where duty calls, but when we get there, keep our hands out of our pockets.

Holding as we can work first rate, sometimes. The trouble is knowing how to do well.

A man who cannot find anything to do, really does not know what he could make a plant grow quickly, and where the penes that he took out of Robbie's ear must have come from. To me there was more pleasure in watching the faces of the little ones than in the entertainment itself. But the dancing. It was a perfect babies' delight. Little tots just about three years old dancing, yes, and when they did not out, that they were wrong, it is necessary to make heaven your home than to try to make heaven your home.

The door to shees is marked "push."

A hard thing to live up to is an undeserved reputation.

The trouble with being everyone's friend is that you are no one's confidant.

We wait for the excuse of success in the lives of great men, the dollars are up that the first thing these men did was to do everything to ensure success.

The next three years are ready for a change. Here's hoping that we may have it, and that it will thaw, and thaw, and thaw, until there is not a particle of ice or snow left.

MR. C. M. C. A. Notes.

send you herewith a summary of his speech:-

"Mr. Barnes appeared before the Committee and said he desired in a few words to protest against the passage of the proposed legislation. He further said that even although the few people are injured by reason of their own carelessness, negligence and lack of knowledge, it is no reason why the Legislature should pass a law depriving thousands of citizens of an innocent pleasure and enjoyment, abolishing one of the largest industries of the State, and depriving hundreds of workers of the means of obtaining a livelihood. The reply to this is, that the bill does not wholly abolish the manufacture and sale of fireworks and fire-crackers, but seeks to prohibit such manufacture and sale, to fire crackers of a given length and containing no explosive other than gunpowder. Now while I am not at all familiar with the regular speaker, there will be reports from the delegates who attended the boy's conference held at Somerville last week.
